

If you don't own a linux machine or a mac and use a windows, to practice linux commands you can do one of the alternatives

- Use <https://www.webminal.org/>
- Use https://www.tutorialspoint.com/linux_terminal_online.php
- Try installing gitbash for windows (based on your windows os version): Reference article link
- Using Windows subsystem for linux: (Link)
- Dual boot windows and linux (RISKY) : (Video link)

You can choose any one of the above alternatives, make sure you know that dual boot is a risky alternative because if not done properly you will loose all of your data, and can also loose your whole windows os.
